UW-Madison DPT Visiting Lecturer Guidelines

Criteria

1. The invitation goes to a physical therapist or other health care provider who has a national reputation in his/her area of practice, research or teaching
2. The V.L. committee will consider whether the speaker fits in with a desired diversity of topics presented year to year
3. A preference is given to a speaker who can offer a continuing education course held the same weekend as the lecture
4. The speaker is known to present in an evidence-based manner
5. The speaker’s topic will complement the standard DPT curriculum at UW-Madison

Available Funding

1. The funding for the visiting lectureship are from funds set up between Mary Jane Meng and the UW Foundation in 1995.
2. “The purpose of the fund is to assist the Physical Therapy program in its teaching, research, and public service responsibilities by inviting annually a qualified physical therapist or other health care practitioner to guest lecture at the university of Wisconsin-Madison thereby contributing to the intellectual life of students and faculty”
   “Subject matters and the speaker/s for the Lectures shall be determined by the Physical Therapy Visiting Lecturer Committee. The committee will choose any speakers and the program content of the lectures for the year subject to the approval of the faculty of the Department. Any area of discipline within the full range of the Physical Therapy program may be chosen for that year’s lectures”
3. Typical reimbursement
   a. $500 honorarium
   b. Reasonable (economy/coach) travel expenses
   c. Meals incurred during travel and the day of the lecture
   d. One night’s hotel
