Michele Ries, Ph.D.

Assistant Scientist and Clinical Neuropsychologist
Department of Medicine and Public Health
University of Wisconsin, Madison

— discussing —
Brain regions important for making accurate self-appraisals: What we have learned from cognitively-healthy adults and people with memory disorders

Friday, June 17th
1:00-2:00 p.m.
D4253, VA Hospital

The mission of the ADRC Seminar Series is to present the most high-impact case studies and research directly relevant to Alzheimer’s disease diagnosis, treatment and prevention.